ADDITIONAL RETURNS

FURTHER NEWS FROM THE ELECTION

Will Require Official Count in Maryland—Peabody Gives up in Colorado—Returns From Other States.

COLORADO.
Denver, Nov. 10.—The defeat of Governor Peabody, Rep., by Alva Adams, Dem., is no longer seriously disputed by Republican leaders. All other candidates on the Democratic ticket appear to be elected. The Republicans allege fraud in balloting in some of the Denver precincts and threaten to contest the state election. Adams has a plurality of 10,500. The Democrats will control the legislature unless Denver members-elect are thrown out on contests.

Republican Chairman Fairley to day conceded the defeat of Governor Peabody. Governor Peabody, Rep., concedes his defeat. Adams' majority over Peabody in city and county of Denver is 5,071 and in the state about 10,500. Republicans still claim a majority for Peabody in the state outside of Denver, but this is not borne out by returns, which are still incomplete. Peabody was beaten by 750 plurality in his home (Fremont) county, though it was carried by Roosevelt by 200. Both sides claim the legislature and the result will be in doubt until the official count is made in Denver and Pueblo. After conceding the election of Adams to day, Peabody said:

"The campaign just closed has been one of principles, not candidates. I have tried to maintain peace and quiet, law and order in this state as justly as was possible, and in no case did I exceed the law as interpreted by the supreme court of the state. If the people of the state, by their votes, failed to approve that policy I am still satisfied. The people know what they want and they always have the ballot with which to get it."

At a meeting of the Republican candidates and party leaders to day it was decided to immediately begin a contest for the place of all Democrats who had been elected in Colorado on the face of the returns. Effort is to be made to seat all Republicans from governor down. They claim fraud.

MARYLAND.
Baltimore, Nov. 10.—Upon the face of unofficial returns Roosevelt has carried Maryland by a plurality of 126. The actual result will not be known until the official count has been made. The count began at noon to day.

Baltimore, Nov. 10.—Official returns received at a late hour to night indicate the vote for president is very close, possibly one hundred either side. It is probable Secretary of State Tilden will be called upon to decide which of the electors will be entitled to cast their votes in Washington. Official returns thus far received indicate Republicans elected seven and Democrats one of the electors of the state.

MISSOURI.
St. Louis, Nov. 10.—Unofficial returns from eighty-five out of 114 Missouri counties give Roosevelt a plurality of 10,406 over Parker, Rep., for governor a plurality of 36,813 over Walbridge, Rep. Returns received by the Post-Dispatch (Independent Democratic) from all but fourteen counties in the state give Roosevelt a plurality of 13,138 and Folk, Dem., a plurality of 37,780.

With complete returns from ninety-six counties of the 114 the entire Republican ticket, except governor, is elected by pluralities of 350 to 15,000. Roosevelt's plurality is 10,000 to 15,000.

NEBRASKA.
Omaha, Nov. 10.—Enough returns have come in to leave little doubt that Governor Miley is re-elected by from 5,000 to 7,000 plurality.

WEST VIRGINIA.
Parkersburg, W. Va., Nov. 10.—Official returns for West Virginia so far received indicate Roosevelt's plurality is 25,000 to 30,000. The Republican committee claims election of Dawson, Rep., for governor, by over 9,000. The Democratic committee concedes his election by about 5,000. The legislature will be overwhelmingly Republican.

OHIO.
Columbus, Nov. 10.—Nearly complete returns to night show close 125,000 plurality for Roosevelt in Ohio. Only eighteen of eighty-eight counties in the state were carried for Parker and only one Democratic congressman elected out of twenty-one. State Chairman Harvey Garber, Democratic candidate in the fourth district, has 1,000 plurality in a district nominally 5,000 Democratic.

PENNSYLVANIA.
Philadelphia, Nov. 10.—Complete unofficial figures received by the Associated Press from every county in the state except Allegheny, and a close estimate on that, shows Roosevelt's plurality in Pennsylvania is 49,625, probably the largest ever given a presidential candidate by any state in the political history of the country.

WISCONSIN.
Milwaukee, Nov. 10.—Secretary Bentley of the stalwart Republican faction stated to night that returns from every precinct

Denver, Nov. 10.—Four men were brought before the supreme court to day on citations charging violation of the court's mandate concerning frauds at the election Tuesday. The arrest was based on affidavits of special watchers appointed by the supreme court, who swore the men caused lights to be extinguished at the polling place where they were serving long enough to substitute fraudulent Democratic votes for Republican ballots properly cast and which at the time were spread out upon the table preparatory to being counted. More than thirty others after a thrilling experience on a narrow, crowded fire escape were taken to the street in night clothes. The fire, believed to be of incendiary origin, practically destroyed a five-story apartment house on the upper east side.

INDULGE IN PEACE TALK

STARTED BY LORD LANS-DOWNE'S SPEECH

Unofficial Representations Made to Russia by Japan—Intervention Among the Possibilities—Various Talk.

London, Nov. 10.—Japan unofficially has made representations to Russia looking to peace. This action has resulted in failure and such representations, even privately, are not likely to be repeated by the Japanese.

The proposition was put forward tentatively unofficial so the Japanese government would be in a position to deny any report that it was suing for peace.

The failure of these direct negotiations, however, resulted in bringing intervention within measurable distance. Foreign Secretary Lansdowne's plan for arbitration yesterday at the Guild hall banquet is taken here to be a pointed suggestion to France and the United States that the time is approaching when the powers must take some action. It can be definitely stated Lansdowne made his speech with the full knowledge that Japan will not object to a proposition looking to peace from the United States, France and Great Britain. There is a definite impression the initiative will come from Roosevelt, though the action would be joint. It is pointed out Lansdowne only spoke so openly yesterday because he had good reason to believe that Roosevelt, if elected, contemplated making an effort to bring the belligerents to discuss terms of peace. Lansdowne's remarks are held by those in his confidence to mean whatever the United States may do in the matter Great Britain will co-operate even in event of France not participating. It is known Ambassador Cambon hopes for joint action by the three powers.

RECEIVED UNFAVORABLY.
St. Petersburg, Nov. 10.—In official circles Lansdowne's veiled suggestion that the Russo-Japanese conflict might be settled by arbitration finds an unfavorable echo. The sentiment prevails stronger here than ever that Russia's prestige must be vindicated before the idea of peace can be entertained. The mere fact that the suggestion comes from Great Britain's foreign secretary does not tend to its kindly reception here. The conviction is expressed here that Lansdowne's expression could not have been due to an understanding between the British and French governments, it being stated the Russian view of the situation is too well known to her ally to make it possible that she could have been a party to such a move.

Useless as is the idea of bringing the war to a conclusion, it seems, however, there are those in high quarters who consider there is a bare possibility of bringing the conflict to a close on a basis of arbitration. If such a proposition came directly from Japan. Indeed, it is even intimated another suggestion may have been inspired from Tokyo. Russia has announced again and again that no proposition from an uninterested power would even be answered, but any proposition from Japan direct, no matter through what intermediary, would be considered.

A proposal from Japan to arbitrate, the controversy would appeal strongly to Emperor Nicholas. He is extremely proud of being the author of The Hague conference and in spite of the difficult position in which the Russian military prestige would be left by cessation of hostilities at this juncture those competent to judge actually entertain brief such offer on the part of Japan now would not be in vain.

Washington, Nov. 10.—Careful inquiry here fails to develop any change within the last four weeks in the attitude of this government toward the far eastern situation. There has been no move officially to be construed as indicating the course of America to intervene between the belligerents. It was stated, however, several weeks ago by one of the highest authorities that the president was only awaiting a suitable opportunity to do what he could to terminate the present war. He was restrained at that time, and is now, by the iron rule of the state department that under no circumstances or conditions should this government make a formal offer to bring the belligerents to peace terms unless both should signify a willingness to avail of his good offices. That point has not yet been reached in this war. It is known Japan, having been in full and free conference with the state department here and with Griskom, American minister at Tokyo, for many weeks past, is willing to entertain an offer of good offices from the president or King Edward looking toward terminating the war, but so far no such intimation has come from Russia and the slightest suggestion of intention to urge peace upon Russia has aroused both private and official resentment on the part of Russian officials here.

RUSSIA'S WISHES.

Washington, Nov. 10.—Emphatically, but with all courtesy, Russia through her ambassadors abroad has several times informed neutral powers she will brook no mediation at this time in her war with Japan. It can be announced Russia expects her wishes will be respected by all powers to which she has communicated her views.

Ambassador Cassini said to night to the Associated Press:

"I can announce that I have very good reason to believe my government's emphatic opposition to any mediation at this time will be respected and observed by all neutral powers."

Of the suggestion made in Great Britain that the United States take the lead in a move for intervention, the ambassador hastened to repeat what he has announced so many times, that he has positive assurance this government while at all times ready to offer its services, has not the slightest intention to take a step toward mediation unless invited by both belligerents. The Russian government is fully aware of the views of this government on the subject and it is deemed unnecessary at the Russian embassy here again to announce it is confident this attitude will be strictly adhered to.

EXPERIMENTAL WORK.

Washington, Nov. 10.—The annual report of the board of ordnance and fortifications shows that an unusual amount of experimental work has been performed during the past year. Only seven twelve-inch guns out of a total of 100 guns constructed for in 1891 remain to be completed and the last of these will be made by August next. The board renews its recommendation of last year for immediate procurement of medium calibre rapid fire guns for coast defense to the extent of 200 semi-automatic high velocity six-pounders on pedestal mounts; 200 semi-automatic guns of calibre large enough to fire shrapnel, mounted on field carriages, and 200 automatic machine guns, 30 calibre.

IDEAL WEDDING ROOM.

New Jersey Justice's Scheme to Exchange Matrimony.

Justice of the Peace, John L. La Faucherie, of Belleville, N. J., who, it is believed, has performed more marriage ceremonies than any of the local clergyman, has adopted a new plan to entertain couples who wish him to marry them, says the New York Tribune. The justice lives in a large, old fashioned house in the thickly settled part of the town, and he decided a few days ago to set aside a room for weddings that would be attractive to those about to enter matrimony.

With this end in view the justice has had one room gayly decorated, a large floral bell being among its attractions. He bought a piano for the room, and when the couple march to the "wedding room," as it is called, Miss Cora La Faucherie plays the wedding march, while Miss Jeannette Ayres, the granddaughter of the justice, is the flower girl at five minutes' notice. At the close of the ceremony there are bouquets in readiness for the couple. The justice has as ushers George Corham and Frederick Gilman, the regular officials of the court of the justice. While the couples are waiting for the marriage certificate to be filled out they are entertained by a trio composed of Miss La Faucherie, Miss Ayres and Joy La Faucherie, who are all good musicians.

After performing the ceremony the justice presents to each happy couple a wedding present, usually a parlor lamp. "The method," says Justice La Faucherie, "is to encourage those who hesitate to take the final step."

FOE TO BOLL-WEEVILS.

Guatemalan Turkey Live on Them, and Birds Will Be Imported.

The Guatemalan turkey is the latest discovered foe to the cotton boll weevil, and the department of agriculture at Washington will at once begin the importation of thousands of these birds for distribution throughout the plantations of the infected zone. Secretary Wilson said to the St. Louis Post-Dispatch correspondent the other afternoon that the Guatemalan turkey was a species of American bird which had been domesticated in the little Central American country and that it fed chiefly upon the cotton boll weevil.

"Our agents in Guatemala have recently discovered in their study of the life history of the ant and the boll weevil that the turkey of that country is a great enemy to the weevil, and I propose to give it a trial in the United States. The turkey of Guatemala is somewhat smaller than our own variety, and it is very tame. It is also very good for food. In fighting the weevil the department will spare no expense."

Secretary Wilson denied that experiments with the ants imported from Guatemala had been disappointing. He said the study of the little ant would be continued as assiduously as ever and that those brought to this country had met expectations.

ASKED FOR ARMISTICE

PORT ARTHUR COMMANDER MAKES REQUEST

Report Sent Out From Tokio—Confirmation Unobtainable—Fierce Attacks on City Sunday and Monday.

Tokio, Nov. 10.—It is reported General Steessel, commanding Port Arthur, has asked the Japanese for an armistice, the purpose of which was not stated. Confirmation of the report is unobtainable.

Chofoo, Nov. 10.—The mountain, according to Chinese who arrived here to day from Port Arthur, is proving a costly obstacle to the Japanese. On the morning of the 5th and 6th fierce assaults on the position were made by Japanese, who were repulsed. During the second assault a shell dropped on its mountain demolishing a land mine controlling the station and exploded other mines. Russians were holding trenches on the boundary of the mined section and six or seven hundred were killed. The Japanese were unhurt.

Tokio, Nov. 10.—A report from General Naga's headquarters, dated Wednesday, says the enemy's military warehouse situated in the northern part of Port Arthur was bombarded with heavy siege guns and navy guns. The bombardment caused a conflagration. On the afternoon of the 6th the magazine of an old battery on Sung Chow mountain was exploded by shells.

Manchurian headquarters reporting says: "On the night of the 8th two companies of the enemy attacked our outposts, but were completely repulsed. All is quiet in other directions."

Mukden, Nov. 10.—The Japanese to day assumed the offensive on the left bank of the Hun river and occupied three villages. The Russians, however, attacked, drove them out and again established their original lines of defense.

Tianshan, Nov. 10.—Along eight miles constituting the front of the Russian army everything was quiet to day except for occasional skirmishes and artillery duels on the center and left. The Japanese are industriously continuing work under cover of darkness, digging mine trenches into which to direct the water of the Shukhe river.

London, Nov. 10.—The Telegraph's correspondent with General Oku cables under date of Nov. 9: "Last night the Russians made several determined attacks upon Lamuting and Shingnapa, but were repulsed with heavy losses. Artillery laid the villages in ruins."

Oku's Headquarters, Nov. 10, via Pusan, Nov. 11.—A spirited Russian attack on advance posts Tuesday night was repulsed after a half hour of musketry firing. Scouting of positions is progressing.

SHERIFF MURDERED.

Charleston, W. Va., Nov. 10.—Sheriff Daniels of Fayette county was shot and killed to day at Montgomery by Ed Jackson, a brother of Constable Jackson, who was yesterday killed by John Elliott. The trouble grew out of the killing of Jackson. Sheriff Daniels responding to a telephone message reached Montgomery this morning. He saw Harvey Jackson at the station and walked over to him and told him to leave town under penalty of arrest. Jackson, without a word, fired twice point blank at the sheriff, each bullet taking effect. The sheriff died instantly. John Rolf, a prominent citizen, standing nearby, advanced toward Jackson to remonstrate with him and to help Daniels. Jackson shot Rolf dead. Reinforced by his brothers, Jackson defied the town, but the trio were finally driven to the mountains. To night two hundred armed men are searching for them.

FAIRWELL'S PREDICTION.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 10.—Nearly one hundred of the representative business and professional men of Indianapolis, with a number of distinguished Republicans, including Vice President Ellet Fairbanks, were brought together to night at the Columbia club on the occasion of the annual banquet of the Merchants' association. George A. Gay, president of the Merchants' association, was the toastmaster. John B. Farwell, of Chicago, delivered the principal address of the evening. To Fairbanks he remarked: "I am sure of one thing to night, gentlemen, and that is that we have with us a vice president who will one day be a president."

Prolonged applause greeted this and Fairbanks did not look displeased with the demonstration. Senator Fairbanks spoke of the business conditions in Indianapolis.

VETERAN ACTOR

Joseph Jefferson Retires From Stage Life—Latter Will Spend Winter in Florida.

Joseph Jefferson, the celebrated actor whom almost everybody knows and admires, has announced his retirement from the stage. He is now in Washington, but will soon leave for Palm Beach, Fla., where he will spend the winter. The letter in which he announces his retirement is as follows:

"From the stage I have retired permanently. I am 75, you know, and so, no doubt, am entitled to be old—and I have been a little weak of late, I'll admit—but isn't it funny? I feel as young as a boy."

"I am leaving the limelight to go into the sunshine, and I leave a blessing behind me and pray for a blessing before me."

"It is dear to me—that life of illuminated emotion—and it has been so magnificently repaid. If I could send an eloquent message to the world I would, but somehow words fail me when I try to say it. I have been doubly repaid by the sympathetic presence of people when I was playing, and the affection that seems to follow me like the sunshine streaming after a man going down the forest trail that leads over the hills to the lands of the morning. No, I can't put it in words."

"I have had fourteen children, and seven are living, so I am in every way blessed. I have grand-children and great-grandchildren, but I leave my wider family behind me—those who came to see me at the theater—and I have a smile of warmth for them all. I should like to send them a tender message—better expressed, anyway. Perhaps you can do it better for me. Something chokes a little here when I think I am going to say it—God bless them all!"

CHAMBERLAIN'S COUGH REMEDY.

No one who is acquainted with its good qualities can be surprised at the great popularity of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It not only cures colds and grip effectively and permanently, but prevents those diseases from resulting in pneumonia. It is also a certain cure for croup. Whooping cough is not dangerous when this remedy is given. It contains no opium or other harmful substance and may be given as confidently to a baby as to an adult. It is also pleasant to take. When all of these facts are taken into consideration it is not surprising that people in foreign lands, as well as at home, esteem this remedy very highly and very few are willing to take any other after having once used it. For sale by all leading druggists.

To help remove dandruff from the scalp rub or massage every night with the tips of the fingers; this stimulates the scalp and helps to loosen the dandruff.

PHYSICIANS PRESCRIBE IT.

Many broad-minded physicians prescribe Foley's Honey and Tar, as they have never found so safe and reliable a remedy for throat and lung troubles as this great medicine. For sale by J. A. Obermeyer, City Drug Store.

AMERICAN NOTES.

The great pianist, William A. Becker, is being highly spoken of by critics abroad. The following extract is a part of what Mr. Arthur McAbell says of him in the Musical Courier. The concert spoken of was given on Oct. 18:

"William A. Becker, the American pianist from Cleveland, made his debut at Beethoven hall Thursday evening with the Philharmonic orchestra. This was a big event in the American colony and it was made all the more interesting because Josef Friselen, of Hannover, conducted. Beethoven hall was packed full for the first time in my experience at a debutant's concert. Becker played his own concerto in E minor, the Beethoven E flat concerto, and as solo numbers Schumann's 'Warum' and the Chopin A flat polonaise. He scored an enormous success that was a steady crescendo, ending with some fifteen recalls and five encores at the close. It was the biggest public success an American pianist has had in Berlin of late years."

Colisto Chop-Groeneveld, the American pianist, formerly of New Orleans, has a long list of engagements in Germany for this season, of which she has already played several with great success.

Gwilyn Miles, the well known New York baritone, has settled in Berlin with his family for the winter.

Johanna Gadske opened her American tour in Carnegie hall, in New York, Thursday, Nov. 10.

Paderewski is again to be heard in America. He begins his tour in San Francisco Dec. 17, being due to arrive in that city from Australia Dec. 12.

De Pachmann began his American tour in Boston week before last; the press says: "The wondrous witchery of the man's touch, his magic fleetness of finger, and his matchless powers of poetical declamation all are still with him in fullest flower."

George C. Carrio and his accomplished wife have removed from St. Louis to New York, where their work is spoken of in terms of appreciation by the critics. This will be welcome news to their Jacksonville friends and admirers, who heard them in concert in State Street church a few seasons ago.

Eugene D'Albert will be heard in America during the present season. He will conduct some orchestral concerts, as well as play the piano.

The Chicago orchestra, under Theodore Thomas, opened its fourteenth series of concerts last week at the Auditorium.

Gustav Kogel was chosen the foreign conductor of the first New York Philharmonic concert for the present year.

FOREIGN NOTES.

Calve has appeared in Berlin as Carmen and has made a genuine success with the public and the press of the German capital. Both her singing and her acting were praised without stint, and a leading Berlin critic calls her the most satisfactory Carmen ever heard there.

The Lausanne Symphony orchestra is to give seventy-five concerts this winter. Beethoven's nine symphonies will be performed in their chronological order at these concerts.

The Bohemian String quartet has announced a series of concerts in Munich, to consist solely of Beethoven's works. All his string quartets will be played.

Just now Paris is hearing much of Cesar Franck music. At the Colonne concert last Sunday, the first of this season, the entire program was dedicated to compositions by this French or Belgian master, who was born at Liege, Dec. 10, 1822, and died in Paris, Nov. 9, 1890. Very shortly a monument is to be erected in the square of Saint-Clotilde to the memory of the dead composer.

Mascagni's successor as director of the Pesaro Conservatory is Amintore Galli, the well known writer on musical aesthetics.

Wiesbaden will have twelve symphony concerts this winter under the direction of Felix Mottl. Louis Laster, Arthur Nikisch and Richard Strauss.

A new symphonic poem, "The Hunter's Bride," by Gustav Grube, will be performed at Carlsbad in January.

Teresa Carreno and her daughter, Torresta, are giving concerts together in Hungary, on two pianos.

In Verona they are talking of establishing an Italian "Bayreuth." On the site of an old Roman amphitheater the stage and balconies are to be rebuilt and Verona will invite well known Italian actors, composers and playwrights to participate in the contemplated annual festivities of national art. This probably is a revised version of the plan proposed some years ago by D'Annunzio and Duse.

Sovsek, the teacher of Kubelik, was decorated at the commencement of October with an order from the Austrian emperor. The famous teacher has ninety-five pupils this winter and has had applications from scores of violinists from all parts of the globe. The new pupils receive three lessons a month, while the older ones, that is, those who are able to work by themselves, two a month.

David Popper, the cellist, gave a jubilee concert at Prague not long ago to celebrate his first public appearance on the concert platform. His debut was made in 1864, forty years ago.

William T. Lange of Rock Island, accomplished a feat at the world's fair which has brought him into prominence over the country in the barber world. At the fair there was a contest open to all tonsorial artists of the country and a prize of $1,500 split up into several different prizes for the barber who could shave a man and give a man a hair-cut in the shortest space of time and let the work speak for itself. Mr. Lange won over all and drew first prize. He shaved a man and cut his hair in twelve and one-half minutes.

J. N. Patterson, night policeman of Nashua, Ia., writes: "Last winter I had a bad cold on my lungs, and tried at last a half dozen advertised cough medicines, and had treatment from two physicians without getting any benefit. A friend recommended Foley's Honey and Tar, and two-thirds of a bottle cured me. I consider it the greatest cough and lung medicine in the world. Sold by J. A. Obermeyer, City Drug Store."

CLEANLY WOMAN.

Erroneously Thinks by Securing Her

Scalp That She Can Dandruff. Cleanly women have an erroneous idea that by securing the scalp, which moves the dandruff scales, she is curing the dandruff. She may wash her scalp every day, and yet have dandruff her life long, accompanied by falling hair. The only way in the world to cure dandruff is to kill the dandruff germ, and there is no hair preparation that will do that but Sawbro's Hairbalm. Herbicide by killing the dandruff germ, leaves the hair free to grow as healthy as the hair of a young girl. It cures you forever the effect. Kill the dandruff germ with Herbicide. Sold by leading druggists. Send 1c. in stamps for sample to The Herbicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

Goodnow of Alton Here
Thursday.

J. H. Barrett, former general superintendent of the Chicago & Alton railroad, died Tuesday at Rochester, N. Y., of an acute attack of Bright's disease.

From 1892 to 1894 he was general superintendent of the B. & O. P. railway and for the next two years in the same capacity for the C. & A. road. He then went to the Southern system as division superintendent and from 1899 to 1901 was general superintendent of the same road. He then came to the Alton on Jan. 1, 1901, to succeed Willis E. Gray as general superintendent and remained until Nov. 21, 1903, when he resigned to be succeeded by C. A. Goodnow, who came to the Alton as general manager. Mr. Barrett was out of a position but a few weeks, then accepting the position of general superintendent of the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh road, with headquarters at Rochester. He held that position until his death.

Mr. Barrett leaves a wife to mourn his demise. He also leaves thousands of friends throughout the railway world who will be profoundly affected by the tidings of his death.

OLD AGE BROUGHT NO INFIRMITIES

To "The Author of the Breakfast Table."

Oliver Wendell Holmes, after eighty years of life had rolled over his head, declared that he was "eighty years young." So may every man and woman in Jacksonville, said Druggist Lee P. Allcott, "if they will take proper care of themselves, keep built up and their bodily tissues from wasting." "Vinol could persuade every person in this vicinity who feels old, whether they are so in years or not, to take our splendid cod liver oil preparation, Vinol. It is, by far, the greatest tissue builder and invigorator in the world for old people. Vinol is not a patent medicine, but simply contains the body-building, strength-giving properties of cod liver oil actually taken from fresh cod's livers, and we guarantee that it will repair worn tissues, check the natural decline, and replace weakness with strength.

"There are hundreds of old people in this vicinity who need just such a strength-maker and tissue-builder as Vinol. Their blood is thin and sluggish, but we guarantee that Vinol will enrich and quicken the blood and build up the system. It contains no whiskey, or strong stimulants, which have a bad after effect and weaken and break down, and we therefore wish every person who feels old in this vicinity would try Vinol on our guarantee to return their money if they are not satisfied." Lee P. Allcott, Druggist.

UNION LABEL

GOVERNOR DENEEN.

Chicago Record-Herald: Charles S. Deneen has carried Cook county and the state by majorities that give the most convincing demonstration of the wisdom of his nomination. The people havinghad their chance have taken advantage of it finally to approve the man and the principles he stands for with an emphasis that should open the eyes of all politicians.

Manifestly the party with which he is identified is thoroughly satisfied and he has never had any apologies to make for being a party man and an organizationman. But he drew to himself independent and Democratic votes because it was believed that as governor he would represent something more than party. In hiscourage and ability and the obvious honesty of his professions there was the promise of a thorough reform of the civilservice, of a strenuous effort to secure proper primary laws, of a vigorous and clean administration. And Chicago andCook county had a special interest in his election because of his complete understanding of the pressing needs of the most populous community in the state.

High expectations were raised by his candidacy, but high though they were we believe that they will be fully realized now that he is elected. The capable,conscientious state's attorney has given the best of pledges in his deeds that the governor will serve the people well.

LOOKING TO THE FUTURE.

Chicago Chronicle: The prospect now is that this is the sort of Democratic party which will emerge from the contest just closed.

Instead of the Bryan Democracy, the

Watson Populists and the Debs Socialists appearing as separate parties four years hence we may expect to see them unitedwith the Bryan contingent, including the solid south, and thus supplying the only reliable bunch of electoral votes and members of the two houses of congress.The combination in the northern states will be formidable. The labor unions may go into politics as Democrats and thus draw from the usual Republican strength.In that case all conservative men, regardless of past party affiliations, will be impelled to act together under the Republican name for the protection of our political system against an advancing anddestructive wave of revolutionary socialism.It behooves the Republican party so to order its house as to make it a safe and fairly congenial refuge for all rationally conservative men in anticipation of the tendering conflict with the forces hostileat once to the constitution and the existing social order.The Republican leaders will find safety for the party and the country in such moderation and conciliation as will bring together and unite conservative and rational and patriotic people for the protection of our constitutional systemagainst the coming onslaught of a combination of visionary Socialists, southern reactionaries and northern mobocrats.

THE GIRL IN THE SAILOR COLLAR

(Original.)

Travelling in the west where the stages each is not yet obsolete, riding beside the driver, I asked him to narrate some adventure that had happened tohim while on the box. This is what I succeeded in drawing forth:

When they were buildin' the Union

Pacific I was drivin' between Julesburg that was the end of the rail-to-Denver. One night I'd scarcely gotout of town when I could see in the dark the figur' of a gal skippin' along the road ahead of me. When I ketched up with her she turned a frightenedglance at me, and, feelin' kind of cur'us about her, I asked her to git up on the couch. I gave her a hand andlifted her to the seat you're occupyin'
now. She didn't seem inclined to talk, and as I pushed her pretty hard to doso she clutched up under the hindmost seat, where I couldn't git at her.

When we made the second change of stock it was dark as pitch, for it was 10 o'clock and a cloudy night. Soon as I'd twisted the ribbons in the brakeI turned round toward the gal and found her sprawled half on the seat and half on the couch top. I wentback to her and found her dead, with a knife stickin' into her heart.Well, the body was sent back to Julesburg, where there was an inquest.

The gal was recognized as one of thekind that made up the population of that temporary settlement, though she hadn't been at the place more'n twodays. The coroner didn't give himself much trouble about the case, and as for suspectin' me he knew I hadn't nomotive for the act. Then rough and tough people was always a-killin' each other, and the gal was probably run-nin' away from some un who follered her, climbed up over the "boot" and stabbed her.The railroad reached Laramie, and Julesburg was deserted. I was drivin' from Laramie one night—it was justabout as dusky as when I tuk on the gal a year before—when I see a feller ahead of me beside the road washin'his hands in a pool o' water. When I come up with him he didn't seem to notice me, keepin' on washin' hishands as though he'd got pizen on 'em and was mighty anxious to git it off. I noticed he was mighty pale, and, notlikin' to leave a human being who didn't seem quite right out so far from any one, I asked him if he wanted a lift. He turned his face on me, and Igave you my word, stranger, it was the wildest lookin' face I ever see. He didn't say nothin', but just kep' onwashin' his hands. More 'n ever dis-likin' to leave him, I asked him ag'in.
"This time he stopped his washin' andclimbed up. I wanted him to set by me so 's I could pump him, but he went up to the back seat and never said aword. I concluded to let him alone, and as he didn't say nothin' I forgot he was there.Bimeby I remembered him and looked around to see if he was all right.
It was a dark night, but I could see hisfigur', for it stood out above the sky line. But what surprised me was that close beside him was another figur',which, it seemed to me, was a woman.
But I wasn't certain that it was either man or woman—I wasn't cer-tain that it was any living thing at all.
I didn't want to make a mistake, so I didn't say nothin' to him, but I justattended to my drivin' and let him alone.
Not hearin' no conversation, I concluded I'd been mistaken, and to make sure I turned to look ag'in.

If that what he was a-leanin' up ag'in wasn't a gal, then I hadn't eyes capable o' drivin' a six loss team.Conspicuous was a white sailor collar where the neck ought ter be, and I suddenly remembered that the gal thathad been murdered had worn just such a collar. I had to supply the head by imaginin' it, but bimeby it seemed tome the face of the murdered gal came out o' the blackness.I must have been flustered, for I didn't show no kind o' sense. If it was the gal it must have been herghost, and there wasn't no use talkin' about her to no one. Instead o' keepin' quiet I asked:

"Where did y' take on the gal?"

The feller seemed to wake from a sleep, for he set up straight instead of leanin' ag'in the figur' or whateverit was and asked kind o' crazed:
"What?""The gal beside y'? Where did y' take her on?"

"Gal? What gal?"

"The gal with the white sailor collor."

The feller giv' a shriek and climbed over the back of the seat, keepin' his face my way and goin' backward till he disappeared behind the coach andI heered some'n go thud on the road.

I pulled in and went back and there he lay dead. He'd broke his neck.Soon as we'd got the body on the coach I looked for the gal. What do y' suppose, stranger, I'd tuk for her?A bundle of rolled blankets with part of a linen duster stuck out at one end, which in the dark I'd tuk for a collar.The feller had taken it up on to the seat and gone to sleep ag'in it.The cur'us part of it was that we found the gal's pictur' in his pocket, and she wore the same sailor collar aswhen she'd been murdered. Before the coroner people testified that the man had gone to Julesburg with herand, since the murdered had been constantly washin' his hands.

WOMAN'S COLUMN

A foolish man is one who thinks he understands women.

Sometimes a woman is known by the hired girls she don't keep.

Many a man who isn't quite sure of the Bible, has unlimited faith in an almanac.Clip the best things out of the papers as you read them and save them for future reference.

Pick over the rubbish in your store room once in a while and see what can be dispensed with.

We do not like the woman who keeps house so perfectly that everybody is miserable.

If everybody got her just deserts

there would not be enough people left over to hold a jollification meeting.If the lamp chimney resists all efforts to make it bright and shining by the use of water, try a little alcoh-hol.

Matting used for floor covering will lie more smoothly when sewed together like a carpet than when nailed down.

To win a girl a man must excite her curiosity, command her admiration, arouse her interest and then—make her cry.

When a man gets too old to feel admiration for a pretty woman, he should buy an automobile and let it run off a bridge with him.

No man knows the woman to whom he would bring his cup of joy till he has found her to whom he feels he might also bring his grief.

Within three days a Denver couple have had a hired girl, admired girl and fired girl. We'll bet a dollar we can guess who did the hiring and firing.

Some of the soldier boys who married Filipino maidens as a joke find on returning that Uncle Sam is verydull about catching the point of some jokes.

More than ten thousand Japanese women have already volunteered to go to the front to act as nurses.

CANVASSING

THE RETURNS

Rapid Progress Made in the Official Count—Expect to Complete Work to Day.

The canvassing board canvassed the returns from fourteen precincts Thursday, as follows: Alexander, Aracadia, Chapin, Concord, Franklin No. 1, Franklin No. 2, Jacksonville No. 1, Jacksonville No. 2, Jacksonville No. 3, Jacksonville No. 4, Jacksonville No. 5, Jacksonville No. 6, Jacksonville No. 7, Jacksonville No. 8 and Jacksonville No. 9.

The above table contains the official returns from the fourteen precincts canvassed and the returns published for the remaining precincts are unofficial returns received at the Journal office.

There are a number of changes noted, but so far as can be seen none of them will affect the general result, except in the case of the candidates for county superintendent of schools and surveyor. The table shows the election of Montgomery (Dem.), for superintendent by 96, and Tankersley (Dem.), surveyor, by 26, with the official count in sixteen precincts to be determined.

HORSE FELL INTO CELLAR.

A horse attached to the transfer wagon of Alex Wyatt fell into the cellar of a building which is being erected at the corner of West Morgan street and Broadway alley. The wagon was coming out of the alley in the rear of Groves' grocery store and as it is very narrow at this point the horse slipped and fell into the cellar. Henry Wyatt, who was driving the team, immediately cut the harness so as to prevent the other horse from falling in. The animal was taken out by means of two boards used as skids. The horse was not seriously injured.

THAT ANGELIC BOY

"Horrid little beast!" cried Mrs. Carhart, with very decided emphasis. "He's chasing the cat through the par-lors. My poor carpets!"

"My dear," said Mr. Carhart soothingly, "try to be patient. Mr. Clymer's visit can't last forever."

"If I thought it would I should com-mit suicide," said the lady hysterically. "Hear that dreadful crash! I know it's one of my vases!"

"Never mind, Lucilla; never mind! The money Mr. Clymer will leave us, if he is properly managed, will buy enough to replenish in dozen houses. Just think of it, $300,000, and not a relative in the world!"

"Except this boy whom he has adopted."

"Except this boy, of course. But an adopted child isn't like a blood relative. Mr. Clymer has himself assured me that he will leave merely a nominal sum to Gustavus Adolphus. Hush! Here he comes now!"

"Well, Gustavus, my boy," said Mr. Carhart, assuming a playful air of wel-come, "what are you up to now?"

"I want some jam," was his imper-ious demand.

Mrs. Carhart, impelled thereto by a glance from her husband, turned to the preserve closet, while the lawyer looked more keenly at the boy.

"Why, what's the matter with your hand, Gustavus?" he asked.

"Cut it," was the terse reply. "Cat jumped through that there glass thing in the garden, and I was a-hauling of her out when I cut my hand!"

"My grasper!" ejaculated the law-yer, with a slight gasp for breath as he remembered the wager he had laid with his next neighbor as to the earli-est grapes of the season.

"What have you in your pocket, my boy?" he asked, striving to speak jo-vially.

"Peaches," grinned Gustavus Adol-phus, with his mouth full of strawber-ry jam. "I picked every one."

"You little wretch!" began the law-yer. But the entrance of old Mr. Cly-mer checked the ebullition of well de-served wrath.

"Don't be troublesome, Gustavus," said old Mr. Clymer, with a tap of his cane upon the floor.

"Troublesome, my good sir!" said Mr. Carhart. "If you only knew how the light of innocent infancy brightens up this dull old house!"

"Gustavus, love, don't swing by those lace curtains," said Mrs. Carhart ap-prehensively. "I'm afraid you'll hurt yourself if they come down!"

"With its musical echoes," went on Mr. Carhart, "you wouldn't check the dear boy. How often my wife says to me, 'Oh, if we had such a lovely child!'"

"Ah," said old Mr. Clymer sagely, "indeed!"

"Grash" went the curtains and cor-nices and down came the namesake of Sweden's illustrious king, breaking a glassed chair and overturning a stand of flowers in his fall.

Great was the family regret and most ostentatiously displayed when Mr. Clymer announced his intention to depart.

"We shall be quite lost without you," chimed in Mr. Carhart.

"We shall miss the boy dreadfully," chimed in Mr. Carhart.

"Shall you really?" demanded Mr. Clymer, pausing in the act of strap-ping his valise.

"Can you doubt it, my dear friend?" "Suppose, then, that I leave Gus-tavus Adolphus with you for a month or so?" said the old gentleman. "I shall be traveling around from place to place, and a boy like that would be in the way. If you would just as soon!"

"My dear sir," cried Mr. Carhart, with a spasmodic gurgle in his throat, "it will be the greatest favor you can possibly do us!"

And, to Mrs. Carhart's despair, Mas-ter Gustavus was left on her hands once more.

The month, a memorable and dread-ful thirty days with poor Mrs. Carhart, was drawing to a close when her hus-band came in, carrying a black edged letter and with a certain melancholy exaltation in his face.

"My dear," he said, "we have here sad news. Our estimable friend Mr. Clymer is—"

WYNNE AS A WIT

Witnesses of the Postmaster General's Repartee.

Robert J. Wynne, who has been ap-pointed postmaster general of the United States, has more than a local reputation for his wit, says the Wash-ington correspondent of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. He is a clever after dinner speaker. Sometimes he says things that sting. He is a charter mem-ber of the famous Girdiron club, and has taken a part in the toasting of pub-lic men at the dinners of that organi-zation ever since the club began its work of impressing on the minds of statesmen that there are others.

He is intolerant of shams and vicious with bors. He is generous with his friends and implacable to his foes. He sees into things quickly and is so thoroughly grounded in the affairs of the government that few problems get by him unsolved.

When Mr. Wynne is in action at a dinner party he is a foe much to be feared by the stupid man or the pomp-ous one. It was Wynne who, when Julius Kahn of California, the former actor, who came to congress, rose in his seat at a dinner and began, "When I was on the stage"—interrupted by the gentle inquiry, "Who were you driving for?" Kahn never has answer-ed that question.

Until Mr. Wynne went into the post-office department and thereby attained the title of "general," which always goes with the place he held as assistant postmaster general, he was often called Colonel Wynne. That came about in a peculiarly Wynne way.

A few years ago he was subpoenaed in a lawsuit, and the subpoena was made out to Colonel Robert J. Wynne. The lawyer opposed to the side for which Wynne was testifying began to badger Wynne.

"I see by the subpoena that you are called Colonel Wynne," he said.

"Yes," Wynne replied.

"Have you ever had any military experience?"

"No."

"Then," roared the lawyer, shaking his finger, "how does it come that you are posing as a colonel?"

"I am not responsible for the way sub-poe-nas are made out," said Wynne. Then he turned to the judge and said, "But, your honor, I submit that when a man has lived in Washington for twenty-five years he is entitled to some sort of a title."

"The judge gave it to him then and there."

JAP OFFICER AS A COOLY.

Six Months in Port Arthur to Get Information.

The other day I was talking to a very intelligent man who has had many opportunities of meeting globe trotters—globe trotters for reasons of business rather than of pleasure—and he told me a remarkable story which had been told to him by one of these globe trotters, says a writer in London M. A. P. The story throws a signifi-cant light on the reasons of the ex-traordinary success the Japanese have been gaining in their recent battles.

A Japanese trader was leaving Port Arthur just as it became evident that war must come. He had several trunks, and these he entrusted to a Chinese cooly, who seemed to be well up to his work and who handled the trunks with the characteristic prompti-tude and facility of a Chinaman of that class. When the Japanese got on board he missed his cooly, and he found among his baggage another trunk which he did not recognize. He thought nothing more of the affair, he leaving it to be one of the mistakes which were inevitable in a time of hur-ry and something like panic, but when the vessel in which he was traveling had gone some distance from Port Ar-thur he was approached by a Japanese officer, evidently of high position.

"The officer remarked to the trader that he had not paid his cooly. The trader confessed that this was so and gave as an excuse that the cooly had suddenly disappeared just as the ves-sel was leaving."

"I was the cooly," said the Japanese officer, with a smile. "I have been in Port Arthur as a cooly for six months, and now I know all about it, and by and by this will be useful."

Ban on Bear Hug Dancing.

A society for reforming some of the present styles of dancing was recently organized at Baltimore, by dancing masters, says a special dispatch from Baltimore. All the leading teachers of Baltimore are interested. "We pro-pose," they announced, "to cut out this bear hug fashion of dancing. It has not gained as great a hold in Baltimore as in some other cities, but we mean to check it. We strictly oppose the half time dancing and romping. They have a fashion in New York of dan-cing a sort of glide from the twopenny to a waltz. We don't approve of this, and we shall teach classes how to dance to music."

Garnering Profits From Adversity.

Things generally even up all right. The farmers in the Mississippi river bot-toms, who thought they were ruined when the floods swept over their grain fields last summer, says the Kansas City (Mo.) Journal, are now growing rich; it is said, as producers and mar-keters of toothsome frog legs.

Canadian Ponies For Russo-Jap War.

SIMMONS' LOVE STORY

(Original.)

"Simmons, tell us a story."

"What kind of a story?"

"A love story," put in one of the party, with a grin, while the others guf-fawed.

"I'll tell you a love story if you like," said Simmons soberly. The others looked at each other as if wondering what kind of a love story the unro-mantic Simmons would concoct. Then they all agreed they would like to hear it. This was the story:

"Ten years ago," began Simmons—"Ten years ago it was somewhere in the eighties—been out of a job, I was mov-ing into Arizona. I was ridin' alone across the rollin' country, feelin' kind o' desolate like, for I hadn't no relatives except way back in Indiana, and the circumsppection wasn't calculated to alleviate no such feelin's, there bein' no shrubbery but cactus, which is no more affectionate than a porcupine. Shortly before sundown I was movin' parallel with a rise in the ground on my left toward the west when some one on the other side of it I heard the crack of a rifle, followed by three more cracks comin' from a somewhat different direc-tion."

"I was in the Apache country, and this set me to thinkin'. If there was a disturbance I didn't want to get into it on the wrong side. Apaches, halnt got no gratitude, and I preferred to cast my fortunes on 'other side. I flat dismounts and climbs the rise and when at the summit takes a peep through the cactus without bein' seen. Right down below was two wagons, with the stock and a family of whites behind 'em, backed by the rise I was on, while further out was a small band of redskins—twenty or more, I reckon—crawlin' up on to 'em, firin' as they crawled."

"I goes down to my horse, unslingin' two rifles, includin' all the ammunition I had—there was plenty of it—and goes back to the crest. The Indians had scattered—deployed, as the sol-diers say—in a thin line curved like a bow so's to make the whites both center and on either flank."

"Simmons," interrupted one of the listeners, "do you call this a love story? I call it a fightin' yarn."

"The whites," continued Simmons unperturbedly, "was pretty much flustered, for they never could tackle the Indians comin' from such different pints. There was a middle aged man and a woman about the same age, and two young fellows about twenty and eighteen, a kid, a boy of twelve, and a girl. Every one of the half dozen of 'em had rifles in their hands, includin' the kid. The ole man was tellin' 'em not to fire till the Indians got closer—I could hear every word he said—nor to aim at the same savage and never to fire without bringin' down a man. He'd posted the gal on one extreme flank and the kid on the other, where there wasn't but one or two Indians for each to watch. The Apaches wasn't firin' just then; they was doin' some-thing more turntable; they was a creepin', contractin' the line as they came. When they got nigh the ole man fired and dropped a redskin. At this all the others fired, doin' damage, except the gal and the kid. Just then the front line moved fore and the two flank Indians closed in rapid. It seemed to me time for the reserve to come in, so I dropped the flank Injun gal, for the gal, then turned to the one before the kid, which I sent back with a hipp."

"Well, now, you'd oughter seen the way them Injuns picked up their ears and craned their necks to see where the shootin' came from. I knowed the smoke hung over where I was, for we hadn't no smokeless powder then, so I moved pretty quick a dozen yards to the right and let 'em have it, but I didn't hurry, so I might bring down an Injun every time. The family be-lieve was equal astonished, but not a one of 'em dared take their eyes off'n the redskins to see what was up, I keeps movin' about behind the cactus, firin' as rapid as I could, convenient, givin' the appearance of a line fifty yards from tip to tip. In less'n ten minutes I'd dropped five Injuns, and the family, havin' taken heart, dropped as many more. I counted ten left. Then ten drayed off, outen range and held a powwow, lookin' up at the crest where I lay in the cactus, not wastin' no ammunition, therefore givin' no sign. After awhile, likely concludin' there wasn't much force on the crest, they advanced ag'in, usin' their pointers for protection till they come within 200 yards, then made a dash for the wag-ons."

"Of course I couldn't tell which brought down the most of 'em, the family or me. All I knowed was that four of 'em dropped, remainin' re-markable quiet; two of 'em dragged themselves away; the other three put 'em on their pointers and galloped away."

The story teller ceased to speak, having apparently reached the end of his story.

"Well," said a listener, "didn't the family show no gratitude nor nothin'?"

"Didn't have no time. We was afraid of more Apaches and lit right out."

"But where does the love part come in?"

Simmons was evidently embarrassed. He took out a plug of tobacco and bit off a big piece.

"I of you it was to be a love story, didn't I?"

"Sure."

"Well, there warn't no time for love neither."

Simmons seemed restive under the laugh that followed, and one of his listeners, to help him out, asked a lead-ing question:

"Did you travel with 'em long, Sim-mons?"

"Been travelin' with 'em ever since and been keepin' house with one on 'em—the gal."

A LITTLE NONSENSE.

Sad Happenings as Viewed From an Ocean Steamer.

The great steamer plowed mono-tonously on through the quiet sea. No sail, not even the smoke of a dis-tant liner, rested the eye from the expanse of heaven and water. The day was almost done, and the soft, silvery light that fell across the waves glistened now and then upon the scales of some playful fish as it leaped from its native element. The gods were at peace with the world, and danger slept.

And yet the face of the captain as he leaned over the rail and gazed with his glass to the west wore a troubled look. Observant passen-gers gathered about him, wondering at his strange silence. He seemed unconscious of their presence, and questions brought no answers to the inquisitive. Women began to look into the eyes of their husbands, and the children felt a strange fear creep into their hearts as they grasped the skirts of their mothers. Something was wrong, but what? A sigh escaped from the breast of the bravest seaman.

"Poor devil! We can do him no good." And then, as he noted for the first time the anxious upturned faces, he smiled sadly. "It is not we, but more's the pity, that while we sail so safely another, behind our aid, goes down. Look!" And he passed the glass to the nearest passenger. "You can make it out—close on the western horizon—the sun—it's sinking!" he moaned, and a manly tear trickled slowly down his cheek, rolled overboard into the ocean with a silent splash. And the ocean salted it down.—Judge.

An Advantage.

"Do you object to your husband betting on an election?"

"Yes, but it's better than betting on a horse race. There is at least the satisfaction of knowing that your candidate isn't going to run sixth or seventh."

Logic, if Not Grammar.

The teacher was trying to impress upon her class the right uses of "is" and "are."

"Johnnie," said she, "if we say 'One boy is good,' what should we say of two boys?"

"Two boys is bad," responded Johnnie.—Chicago Record-Herald.

A Place of Safety.

"Don't you feel a little nervous in your new automobile?"

"No," answered the man whose clothes smell of gasoline. "When I am in that machine a sense of perfect security comes over me. I know I can't be run over."—Wash-ington Star.

His Opportunity.

"Come on, Billy," said Borrowoughs, who was buying drinks very freely, "you're just in time. What'll you have?"

"I'll have that $5 you owe me, if you don't mind," replied Lenders.—Philadelphia Press.

Mrs. Elizabeth H. Thompson, of Lillydale, N. Y., Grand Worthy Wise Templar, and Member of W. C. T. U., tells how she recovered from a serious illness by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I am one of the many of your grateful friends who have been cured through the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and who can to-day thank you for the fine health I enjoy. When I was thirty-five years old, I suffered severe backache and frequent bearing-down pains; in fact, I had womb trouble. I was very anxious to get well, and reading of the cures your Compound had made, I decided to try it. I took only six bottles, but it built me up and cured me entirely of all my troubles. "My family and relatives were naturally as gratified as I was. My niece had heart trouble and nervous prostration, and was considered incurable. She took your Vegetable Compound and it cured her in a short time, and she became well and strong, and her home to her great joy and her husband's delight was blessed with a baby. I know of a number of others who have been cured of different kinds of female trouble, and am satisfied that your Compound is the best medicine for sick women."—Mrs. ELIZABETH H. THOMPSON, Box 105, Lillydale, N. Y.

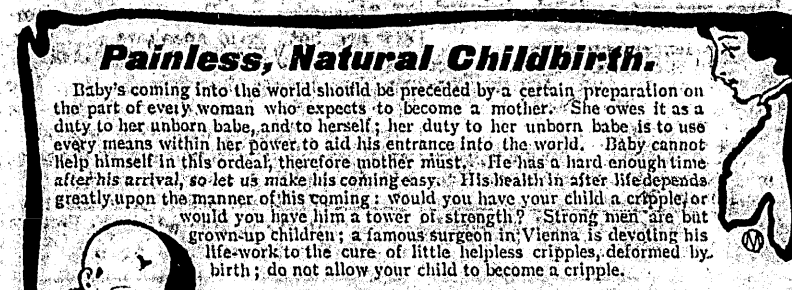

Thousands upon thousands of women throughout this country are not only expressing such sentiments as the above to Mrs. Pinkham, but are continually writing letters of gratitude to Mrs. Pinkham, until she has hundreds of thousands of letters from women in all classes of society who have been restored to health by her advice and medicine after all other means had failed.

Here is another letter which proves conclusively that there is no other medicine to equal Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I suffered with poor health for over seven years, not sick enough to stay in bed, and not well enough to enjoy life and attend to my daily duties properly. I was growing thin, my complexion was sallow, and I was easily upset and irritable. "One of my neighbors advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I procured a bottle. A great change for the better took place within a week, and I decided to keep up the treatment. "Within two months I was like a changed woman, my health good, my step light, my eyes bright, my complexion vastly improved, and I felt once more like a young girl. I wonder now how I ever endured the misery I would not spend another year like it for a fortune. "I appreciate my good health, and give all the praise to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. M. TILLA, 407 Haberstee St., Savannah, Ga.

Mrs. Pinkham has on file thousands of such letters.

Painless, Natural Childbirth.
Baby's coming into the world should be preceded by a certain preparation on the part of every woman who expects to become a mother. She owes it as a duty to her unborn babe, and to herself; her duty to her unborn babe is to use every means within her power to aid his entrance into the world. Baby cannot help himself in this ordeal, therefore mother must. He has a hard enough time after his arrival, so let at make his coming easy. His least after life depends greatly upon the manner of his coming: would you have your child a cripple or would you have him a tower of strength? "Strong men" are but grown-up children; a famous surgeon in Vienna is devoting his life-work to the cure of little helpless cripples, deformed by birth; do not allow your child to become a cripple.

Mother's Friend
Is a liniment which will forestall any possibility of accident at birth: that is, it relaxes all the abdominal muscles and tissues, and permits of an easy access to the child. It eases the mother's pain, and so assists nature that when baby comes he starts out in life with a constitution well able to fight life's battles, and to bloom into strong pure blood. It is the comfort and delight of every true mother's heart. One dollar is the price at all drug stores. Send for our book on "Motherhood." It is free.

Why Men Grow Weak

It is Due to a Wasting of the Most Vital Elements, Which Destroys the Whole of the Bodily Forces.

It makes young men feel old and it cuts off the usefulness of middle-aged and old men long before their allotted time, resulting in premature decline and decay. It robs the blood of all its richness, exhausts the body of its animating powers, and saps the very life itself from the brain and nerve centers. Dr. Chase's Blood and Nerve Food acts at once upon this impoverished condition of the blood, brain and nerve forces, stopping the drain and replacing the run down and worn out tissues with the same material that has been wasted. It fills the shriveled arteries with pure, rich blood, which increases the weight in sound, healthy flesh and muscles, that give you strength, and the brain and nerves with fresh, vital fluid, that forces new life and vigor into every portion of the body, building up the entire system and transforming the sufferer into a type of perfect manhood. Weigh yourself before taking it. Price 50 cents. Book free.

THE DISCOVERER OF

SEVEN BARKS

Was, thirty-five years ago, one of Germany's foremost physicians, besides he was a celebrated botanist and chemist. His discoveries were many and invariably successful. Perhaps his most important discovery was that of the great and popular preparation called Seven Barks—extracted from the bark of a specially grown Hydrangea plant. This bark contains seven barks, each division possessing wonderful individual curative values. One acts as a gentle cathartic, another as an alterative, the third as a diuretic, the fourth as an expectorant—while the other three layers produce wonderful, upbuilding tonic elements.

Most All Disease

Emmanates from the drainage system (the stomach, bowels, liver and kidneys). When one of these organs becomes clogged or congested the others naturally suffer in sympathy, and it requires a thorough cleansing and the removal of all of them before each can again fully perform its natural function.

Seven Barks

Contains nature-giving principles that will effect immediate relief and, in good time, a permanent cure of all such disorders. One 50-cent bottle will demonstrate its phenomenal value.

Talk with your druggist about it. He will back-up all we claim. If you are ill and cannot spare 50 cents for a bottle, write a postal and we will send you a bottle free.

FINANCIAL NEWS.

New York, Nov. 10.—There were further very large dealings in stocks to day and very broad market with much absorptive power. But the volume of transactions fell off considerably from extraordinary business done yesterday and amounted to less than 2,000,000 shares. Also the selling rather than the buying and caused an extensive array of losses by the end of the day, besides largely reducing or wiping out gains in strong features of the day. There was minor tone in the money market, but changes in quotations were barely appreciable. Call loans, however, were made at 3 per cent at the last hour of the stock market. The extent to which bear selling played a part in the market was indicated by late demand to cover shorts, which was precipitated by a five-point jump in Tennessee Coal and Iron stock closing one firm at following quotations:

Money on call firm and higher at 2 1/2 per cent; closing bid and offered, 2. Time loans slightly firmer; sixty and ninety days at 2 1/2; six months at 2 3/4. Prime paper at 4 1/2. Exchange firm. Demand at 48 1/2; 48 1/2; 48 1/2. Key drive at 48 1/2. Bar silver at 63 1/2.

Man's Inhumanity to Motors.
No one in his senses gallops his horse on the highway, nor does the captain of a twenty knot steamer drive her continuously at full pressure. In the motor car alone is this rule habitually disregarded. If it is geared to twenty-five miles an hour its owner is always trying to extract an extra five from it. The majority of petrol motors are run habitually far above the speed for which they were made, with the result that their life is considerably shortened. The first consideration to the man who wishes to motor economically is to make a fixed resolve to treat his car mercifully.—Country Life.

Run for the Doctor.
Some people think it necessary to do so on the slightest occasion—Other people and a great many of them, who are much wiser, very seldom have to call a doctor.

Why?
Because they always have at hand, ready in case of sudden sickness or accident, a bottle of Hamlin's Wizard Oil—the best and most reliable substitute for the family doctor, and one that very often makes his presence entirely unnecessary. Wizard Oil relieves immediately, and cures all pain from whatever cause. Price,

MENARD COUNTY.

A careful estimate of the returns from the precincts in this county show conclusively that Roosevelt has carried the county by a plurality of about 250. CHICAGO CHARTER.

The vote on the Chicago charter amendment in Morgan county is still incomplete, but the official returns from fourteen precincts show the following result: For the charter, 2,626; against, 392.

FUNERAL NOTICE.

BETTER THAN PILLS.

The question has been asked—In what way are Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets superior to the ordinary cathartic and liver pills? Our answer is—They are easier and more pleasant to take and their effect is so gentle and so agreeable that one hardly realizes that it is produced by a medicine. Then they not only move the bowels but improve the appetite and aid the digestion. For sale at 25 cents per bottle by all leading druggists.

Examine the feet of your sheep occasionally. A little time thus spent may save you a whole lot of time in the future as well as a number of sheep. Look out for foot rot. It is a serious disease. Should any of the flock be affected cut out the diseased portion and stand the sheep in a saturated solution of the blue vitriol and vinegar in a trough deep enough to cover the hoofs. Let them stand in this solution a full minute.

Corn Well Digested by Poultry. Tests made in Germany in regard to the digestibility of Indian corn by chickens show that 92.5 of the protein, 84.4 of the fat and 91.7 of the starch material is digested, also 43.3 of the mineral matter. It appears that chickens can digest grain more thoroughly than the animals; hence the grains possess somewhat higher feeding value on this account.

Handling Foals.

The desirability of accustoming foals at an early age to have their feet and legs handled must be evident. It is well to train them to allow their hoofs to be trimmed and regulated by means of the knife or the rasp. A foal should have his feet trimmed, if only a little, at least every four months.
